Spoilage of Cultivable land due to Aquaculture in Tamil Nadu

725. SHRI R. MARGABANDU: Will the Minsiter of AGRICULTURE be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that on account of aquaculture, the cultivable lands are becoming saline and unfit for cultivation;

(b) whether Government are also aware of the agitations in Tamil Nadu in recent times to ban inland aquaculture; and

(c) the reaction of Government thereto?

THE MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE (SHRI CHATURANAN MISHRA): (a) Concern has been expressed about salinity attibuted to shrimp aquaculture in one or two cases where there has been a concentration of shrimp farms. The concern has mainly been expressed about conversion of freshwater to brackishwater in wells adjacent to shrimp farms. However, there are no reports of cultivable lands becoming saline and unfit for cultivation due to salinity incursion from shrimp farms. Further, the guideliens issued by the Government of India (Ministry of Agriculture) in August, 1995 suggest creation of a buffer zone leaving a minimum distance of 50-100 meters between the nearest agriculture land, canal, etc. and the shrimp culture unit.

(b) and (c) Government are aware of the agitations in Tamil Nadu in recent times to ban coastal aquaculture industry. Consequent to the above agitation, the Government of Tamil Nadu constituted an 'Expert Committee'. Based on the recommendation of the Expert Committee chaired by Dr. M.S. Swaminathan, Tamil Nadu Aquaculture (Regulation) Act and Rules were enacted with effect from 3.5.1995 for sustainable aquaculture practices in harmony with the Environment. Due to the interim directions dated 9.5.1995 and 24.8.1995
